

Population Health Explorer Acknowledgements and Licensing Agreement

Development and support for the “Population Health Explorer” was led by the Boston Medical Center Health System (BMCHS) Health Equity Accelerator with research collaborators at Boston Medical Center and the Boston University Clinical and Translational Sciences Institute (BU-CTSI).

By using this software, you agree to the following terms for use of this software:

Subject to the terms of this Agreement, Boston Medical Center Corporation grants to you a non-exclusive, license to use and display the software provided by or on behalf of Boston Medical Center Corporation (including any updates) only for the purpose of accessing the Service ("Software") on any computer(s) on which you are the primary user or which you are authorized to use. Boston Medical Center Corporation is providing this software free of any warranties and guarantees. By using this Software, you agree to provide Boston Medical Center Corporation with feedback about potential changes and enhancements to the Software.

If you use the software for any purpose, you must include a statement attributing the Software to Boston Medical Center Corporation and acknowledging that the Software was initially developed by Boston Medical Center Corporation. You are permitted to further disseminate the Software to not for profit corporations so long as you do not charge any fees for that dissemination and ensure that the sub-licensee agrees to these terms. Boston Medical Center Corporation makes no representation as to the software's fitness or suitability for any purpose. You agree to release Boston Medical Center Corporation from any damages, liability, or loss you incur from use of the software.

